

Just in Vienna

Lobmeyr (left)

Established in 1823, Lobmeyr has long been a pioneer in Austrian/Bohemian crystal production. The company makes elegant crystal lighting, mirrors, mouth-blown glasses and stemware.

26 Kärntnerstrasse, tel. 43.1.512.0508, www.lobmeyr.at

Plachuttas Gasthaus Zur Oper (below)

Mixing modern design with local cuisine, Plachuttas Gasthaus Zur Oper is set inside a historic vaulted house. The restaurant serves the city's signature weiner shchitzel, made from the best cuts of veal.

5-7 Walfischgasse, tel. 43.1.512.2251, www.plachutta.at

Museum of Desires (below)

In this latest exhibit, the Mumok Museum's director Karola Kraus combines the innovative presentation of the Mumok collection with a dynamic campaign aimed at the acquisition of new works.

On view until January 8 at the Mumok Museum, MuseumsQuartier, 1 Museumsplatz, tel. 43.1.525.000, www.mumok.at

Basch (right)

Design firm Mischer-Traxler have released a new collection of lamps called Relumine. The line features new lamps made from old ones, emphasizing the need for consumers to embrace energy-saving light bulbs.

24/7 Bellgasse, tel. 43.660.683.3331, www.mischertraxler.com

Altstadt Hotel (above)

The Altstadt Hotel is a place where art, design and Austrian charm seamlessly combine. The 42-room property is decorated with works by the likes of Andy Warhol, Annie Leibovitz, Niki de St. Phalle and Ranzoni.

41 Kirchengasse 41, tel. 43.1.522.6666, www.altstadt.at

Dottings (above)

Sofia Podreka and Katrin Radanitsch, the design duo behind design firm Dottings, just launched Aramopots. This new collection for Austrian company Riess consists of stackable oven and stovetop-safe porcelain cookware. Visit www.dottings.com

